this book presents poetry which the author believes is another suitable medium of scholarship for expressing his views on liberia s development he says that studying poetry evaluating its messages and embracing them within relevant contexts can be helpful to liberians to empathize with and support each other rather than engaging in acts of violence and destruction the poems cover some of the salient issues of liberia s developmental process highlighting the conditions of progress stagnation and regression the lyrics figuratively in some poems and literally in others express the author s sentiments and hopes for positive change now and in the future for liberia it also includes lyrics with philosophical and social overtones regarding family and friends this book offers a comparative survey of 18 contemporary peace processes conducted by leading international scholars there is no standard model of peace processes and all will vary according to the context type of conflict timing national and global economic climate and factors like natural disasters therefore making comparisons between peace processes is difficult but it is beneficial indeed imperative and is the principal motivation behind this volume what works in one context may not work in another but it can be modified and adapted to fit another context the book is structured to maximise comparison between processes and the case studies chosen are topical and span the major regions of the world the concluding chapter systematically compares the case studies around 11 variables that cover the conflict context peace process procedures the responsiveness of the peace process to demands and levels of participation and inclusion each peace process is then given a numeric score according to each of these variables and the book thereby reaches judgements on whether each case can be termed a success or a failure this book will be essential reading for students of peace studies conflict resolution war and conflict studies security studies and ir it is the condition of modernity that an institution cannot depend on a god tradition or any other transcendental source to secure its foundations which thereby come to rest upon or rather in and through its subjects never wholly separated from its subjects and yet never identical with them this contradictory condition provides a way of seeing how modern law gives form to life and how law takes form enlivened by its subjects by driving theodor adorno s dialectical philosophy into the concept of law the book shows how this contradictory condition enables law to become instituted in ways that are hostile to its subjects but also how law remains open to its subjects and thus disposed towards transformation to flesh out an understanding of this contradiction the book examines the making and remaking of Liberia from its conception as an idea of liberty at the beginning of the nineteenth century to its reconstruction at the beginning of the twenty first with the assistance of an international intervention to establish a state based on the rule of law in so doing the book shows how law is at the epicentre of a colonising power in Liberia that renders subjects as mere objects but at the same time the book exposes the instability of this power by showing how law is also enlivened by its subjects as it takes form in and through their lives and interactions it is this fundamentally contradictory condition of law that ultimately denies power any absolute hold leaving law open to the self expression of its subjects
