New Note of Guidance

Date: October 2010

Parties: DPA/EAD and UNDP

Objective: Clarify roles & responsibilities and standard procedures

Department of Political Affairs of the United Nations Secretariat and the United Nations Development Programme: Revised Note of Guidance on Electoral Assistance

Background
1. The previous version of the note of guidance on electoral assistance was signed by the Department of Political Affairs (DPA) of the United Nations (UN) Secretary and the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP) in January 2001 with the objective of clarifying respective roles and standard procedures.

2. This is a revised version of the January 2001 note which takes into account developments and lessons learned in the field of electoral assistance. Its objective remains to establish clear guidance on the roles and responsibilities of DPA and UNDP in this area. This revised note of guidance replaces all previous guidance.

Overview
3. The UN system is engaged in a wide range of activities that are intended to support the efforts of Member States to promote democratic electoral processes and build sustainable democratic institutions. Member States often request advice and assistance on the legal, institutional, technical and administrative aspects of organizing and conducting elections or recall elections, or coordination of observers, by the UN.

4. A number of trends and challenges in electoral assistance have been recognized in recent Secretary-General’s reports on “Strengthening the role of the United Nations in enhancing the effectiveness of the principle of periodic and genuine elections and the promotion of democratization”. In 2007, the Secretary-General noted that requests to organize or observe elections continued to decrease, while technical advice and assistance to electoral authorities and other institutions have become the norm. There is an increasing realization that building capacity to organize credible elections may require assistance over a sustained period and over several electoral cycles. The electoral cycle refers to the entire electoral process, from the pre-election preparation period to polling to the post-election period. It takes account of many points and provides that the UN engages with (electoral management bodies, domestic civil society groups, political parties, the judiciary, parliament, etc.) depending on where a country is in the cycle and its needs. The concept behind the “electoral cycle” approach is to provide support to a country’s institutions and processes over time in a sustained manner so that international support is reduced and eventually concluded, rather than providing significant input from scratch before each new electoral event.

In 2009, the Secretary-General also noted a number of challenges such as the potential for elections to be overshadowed by political discord or violence, especially after results are announced, concerns regarding the cost of elections and sustainability, and, following the increase of interest in electoral assistance both inside and outside the UN, the need to ensure coordination and cohesion and safeguard the Organization’s impartiality. The UN must therefore continue to make adjustments in its practices in order to meet such emerging trends and challenges.

Objectives
5. The objectives of UN electoral assistance are three-fold:
   (a) To assist Member States in their efforts to hold democratic elections in accordance with obligations, principles and commitments outlined in universal and regional human rights instruments.
   (b) To contribute to building, in the recipient country, a sustainable institutional capacity to organize democratic elections that are genuine and periodic and have the full confidence of competing parties and candidates and the electorate.
   (c) To reduce the potential for elections-related violence.

Roles and responsibilities within the United Nations system
6. In view of the increasing demand for electoral assistance and in order to ensure consistency in the Global Programme for Electoral Cycle Support (GPECS)

Objectives:
- To respond to region-specific needs for electoral support;
- Learn and codify regional lessons;
- Reinforce regional capacity;
- Cooperation with regional institutions;
- Support south-south cooperation;
- Conflict prevention mechanisms;
- Support regional centers of excellence;
Component 3. National

Programme

Component 3: Electoral cycle support and lessons learned at the national level

Objectives:

- Advisory services to the countries
- Direct project support

(Country Window Guidelines)
Who can apply for GPECS support?

- Mainly Africa countries
- Democratising and post-conflict countries
- Low and Middle Income countries
- ECA-inspired Activities, such as long term capacity development, promoting national ownership and mutual accountability
Component 3. National

How to Apply for GPECS support?

- Interested COs submit an Expression of Interest (EoI) via the GPECS Regional Electoral Advisor (REA)

- The REA will assist COs with drafting and finalizing the EoI

- The REA forwards the EoI to GPECS Programme Management for scrutiny and subsequent submission to the GPECS Steering Committee

- Once EoI is approved by GPECS Steering Committee, the REA assists the CO with the project formulation
Component 4. Gender

Programme Component 4: Empowerment of women throughout the electoral cycle

Objectives:
- To achieve full and equal participation of women as voters and candidates
- To build a body of knowledge about women’s political participation;
- Develop a strategy for UNDP programming on gender mainstreaming in the electoral cycle
- To focus on the unique challenges of women’s participation in post-conflict situations.
Component 5. Management

Programme Component 5: Management of the programme

Objectives:
- To manage GPECS efficiently, effectively and in line with the results expected;
- Provide operational support for the successful implementation of the programme;
- Communication and visibility activities;
- Monitor, evaluate and audit the programme;
- Risk assessment and management;
- Donor reporting;
- Coordination with the Steering Committee.

The EU and the UN are natural partners. They are united by the core values laid out in the 1945 Charter of the UN, and the 1948 Universal Declaration of Human Rights.

27 EU Member States and the EC are the largest contributors to the UN system. A total of 1.5 billion euros was approved by the EC to be channelled to the UN in 2009.

2001 EC’s Communication: "Building an effective partnership with the UN", and 2003 EC’s Communication: “EU-UN relations: The choice of multilateralism“.

To facilitate programmatic cooperation between the EC and the UN, an updated Financial and Administrative Framework Agreement (FAFA) was agreed in 2003.
The FAFA agreement provides a single shared legal, financial and administrative framework for all programmatic cooperation between the EC and the UN.

FAFA has made cooperation more efficient, ensuring faster start-up of activities and ensuring administrative consistency across operations.

In June 2004, the UNDP and the EC entered into a Strategic Partnership Agreement (SPA) through the signature of a MoU to set out and better define the relational focus between the two institutions.

The MoU focuses on governance (including elections, parliament and governance indicators), conflict prevention and post conflict reconstruction.
